EDUCATION

+2 in science faculty

Hetauda School of Management and Social Science / Hetauda / April, 2020 - June, 2022

The Science curriculum is designed so that students have the opportunity to develop a background in more than one science stream. All science courses are intended to allow individuals to understand the relationships that science, technology, and society share in our everyday world. Each subject uses laboratory, classroom, and technology activities to illustrate the nature of science and how scientific knowledge evolves.

Treasurer & Volunteer

I am bold and outspoken, yet a helpless sentimentalist or an archivist who stockpiles drawers with memories—my first earning after I sold a pressure cooker in our shop, the Bhagavad Gita scripture I won from an oratory competition, and the recognition certificate that I received after putting forward my opinion about Child Rights in the Policy Formation Summit 2077 organized by the Consortium Nepal. The youth in me finds pleasure in leading my team as the executive of Leo Club of Hetauda to properly organize cleanliness programs, blood donation camps, and tree plantation events. Alongside enjoying banter and a bone-crushing hug, I love to have meaningful conversations on the effects of gender inequality on health and the importance of creative activism. A strong sense of community lies within me, which has instilled a value of social responsibility.
